

On Being a River

This retreat is open to both beginning and experienced meditators. The retreat will be held in silence, and will include sitting and walking meditation, instruction, and dharma talks.

Peter Williams has practiced Buddhist meditation for 23 years and has taught since 2003. He has completed the Community Dharma Leader training through Spirit Rock Meditation Center. Peter teaches retreats in the Rocky Mountain West and leads weekly meditation groups in Boulder, CO.

Insight Meditation Retreat With Peter Williams

8:45 am – 5:30 pm, Saturday, Jan. 23rd, 2016

Columbine Unity Church, 8900 Arapahoe Road, Boulder

We think we are solid, separate beings, navigating life in our own little self-bubble. But really we are a stream of experience, as our bodies, thoughts, and emotions are in constant flux. This change is often out of our control and due to outside influences. Opening to the truths of change and interdependence can be difficult because it threatens our need to feel in control.

Paradoxically, the path of meditation uses this very lack of control as the basis for letting go and realizing the peace and joy of the awakened heart. Meditation gives us a home in the interdependent stream of experience, which is the only true security and belonging.

Suggested donation $60. No pre-registration necessary, but if you plan to attend, please email Peter at <ptrwllms98@gmail.com>.
